On Railroad

(BULLETIN)

SHANGHAI, April 25.—

Thirty Chinese army divisions, numbering from 300,000 to 400,000 troops, opened an offensive at dawn today along a wide front in Shantung province.

The sudden drive, aimed to forestall a renewed Japanese attempt to cut the arterial Lunghai railroad, moved northward north of Tai-chung.

Fight Toward Tanchang. Veteran Chinese troops, the pick of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's army, fought towards Tanchang, which was occupied in a Japanese push only yesterday.

Part to the northeast, the Japanese resumed their hammer blows on the Lungai sector, where the Chinese were reported beaten back in the center of an expanding Japanese salient.

For 50 miles the front extended across the hills and plains of the Yangtze river valley, where thousands have been killed in the recent Japanese defeat at Tai-chung.

The same army, the 36th, which whipped the Japanese at Tai-chung, today opposed the Japanese south of Lingyi.

PA NEWS OBSERVES

Work is progressing rapidly on the repaving and widening of the New Castle-Youngstown highway, between the city and the airport. Favorable spring weather has allowed the work to proceed earlier than usual.

Contractors have embarked on the job of straightening out the bad curve in the highway leading from Walnut to the Harbor, near King's Chapel church. The highway will take a new route and the S curve will be eliminated. A new bridge is required.

PA News wonders why the West Pittsburgh road is not improved thru to the Wampum-New Castle highway.

Barnyard roll is in full swing on courts in the West Side. It is noted.

If you want to test the tires on your auto make a trip over the highway from Enon Valley to Petersburg. A large number of repairs are being made on the Pennsylvania section of the highway, and the rough stones make some difficult traveling. It will be discovered.

Evidently the trailer tourists are increasing. The number of trailers seen in the city, and going through the city daily, is steadily increasing.

Petition Urges Action For Replacing Bridge

Impatient at the delay in restoring the Harris Bridge, which crosses the Slippery Rock Creek in Perry and Wayne townships, a petition has been started in the southern end of the county which urges the state highway department to take some action to put a new bridge in.

The Harris bridge fell into the creek about a year ago when a coal truck running wild down the steep hill east of it, hit the supports and the bridge span collapsed. At that time the bridge was a county property. Later the state highway department took it over and for months it has been state property.

Many Signers

The petition is being circulated in Slippery Rock, Wayne, Perry and Shenango townships in Ellwood City, and in the townships adjoining Lawrence County in Butler. Later, it is expected a petition will be started in New Castle and the various civil clubs asked to join in it.

The Harris bridge was an important link in the highway leading into Perry township in the Mountville church district and on the Portersville-Ellwood City road. In this district there are a number of coal mines and with the Harris bridge out, the coal trucks have been detouring several miles to get into New Castle.

Legion Host Ready To Accord Honor To National Commander

Ivor V. Davis, general chairman of the committee in charge of the American Legion national commander's banquet to be held in the Cathedral Tuesday night, is hoping the Cathedral dining room will be large enough to hold the crowd that is certain to attend.

This year there isn't any question about whether the affair is to be a success. The question is the matter of room. Saturday night, with a lot of Legionnaires not reporting their ticket sales, there were 1,400 tickets sold and accounted for, and over the week-end more could be sold.

In addition, the Pittsburgh newspapers on Sunday stated that County Commander Salvatore Gucelliere was bringing 100 Legionnaires with him, and early today they had no reservations.

Distinguished Guests

Early Tuesday the distinguished guests will commence to arrive in New Castle. National Commander Daniel J. Doherty of Massachusetts expects to arrive about noon; Major General Edward Shannon and State Insurance Commissioner Owen D. Hunt expect to fly in about two in the afternoon; Pennsylvania Department Commander William P. Smith will be here before three, and Ohio Department Commander James V. Suhr is expected in the afternoon. Ohio President of the Women's Auxiliary Mrs. H. D. Simpson has sent word she will be here early, as has Pennsylvania President Mrs. Sally Homer. Execute Three At Rockview

Triple Execution At State Prison Near Bellefonte, This Morning

PENALTY IS PAID BY CHESTER TRIO

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, BELLEFONTE, Pa., April 25.—In the second triple execution held here within a month, three white youths, scarcely out of their teens, died today in the electric chair for the brutal murder of a negro whom they robbed of 41 cents.

The first to die was Edward Rose, 21; then Theodore Duminiak, 20, followed by John Oreszak, 21. In 15 minutes the three whose sole aim in life seemingly had been to rob, rape and slay, were dead. All were residents of Chester.

Go To Death Quietly

Each of the three went quietly to his death. Rose was the first to go, shouting a last goodbye to Oreszak as he left the row for the death chamber, just a few feet away.

Next came Duminiak. It was he who had implicated the others by revealing all to the authorities, and both Rose and Oreszak carried the grudge they felt for him to the grave, refusing to speak to him even in those last minutes of life.

It was Duminiak who revealed to Delaware county authorities how, on the night of July 25, 1936, the three started out in Chester on a robbery tour which ended in the cold-blooded murder of Floyd Trunom, a negro.

Rose entered the chair at 12:30 and was pronounced dead three minutes later. Duminiak entered the chair at 12:35 and was pronounced dead at 12:39.

Oreszak, the last to die, entered the chair at 12:41 and at 12:44 was pronounced dead by attending physicians.

All three were accompanied to the death chamber by the Reverend P. McReesh, prison chaplain.

Anglo-French Military Alliance Will Be Sealed

PARIS, April 25.—An Anglo-French military alliance—although it won't be called that—will be sealed when the French Premier and foreign minister talk with the heads of the British government Thursday and Friday, sources in closest contact with the war ministry said today.

One step beyond the army general staff conversations which have been going on since Germany denounced the Locarno pact two years ago, the "alliance" has long been desired by certain British and French circles, and this week's prospective action was hastened by Germany's annexation of Austria.

Autonomy Demands For Germans In Nation Given Czech Government

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, April 25.—Nazi Germany, fully endorsing the autonomy demands of the Sudeten Germans, expects Czechoslovakia to comply in every respect before the year is out, this correspondent was informed in authoritative quarters today.

The Czech government headed by President Edouard Benes will be given a reasonable time to accept the demands, it was said. But the possibility was not ruled out that Nazi patience may have a limit.

The Reich unqualifiedly endorses and supports the eight autonomy demands put forward by Konrad Henlein, leader of the Czechoslovak Nazis, at the Sudeten party congress in Carlsbad yesterday.

To Enter Negotiations

President Benes is expected to enter into immediate negotiations despite his government's initial declaration it considers the demands "unacceptable." Before the summer (Continued On Page Two)

PARIS, April 25.—Kurt Schuschnigg, last chancellor of independent Austria, has disappeared.

Such was the information given this correspondent by unimpeachable Austrian sources here today and intensive investigation failed to disclose his whereabouts.

All that could be learned was that he apparently is no longer at Belvedere palace where he has been held in "protective custody" since Reichsmarshal Adolf Hitler marched into Austria on March 12 and took that ancient nation into his "Greater Germany."

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 25.—State police began a laboratory examination here today of the torso and legs of a woman found on the shore of Lake Ontario near Grindstone creek. Greenwood M. E. Church Afire

Neighbors Save Church From Destruction As Blaze Starts Sunday Morning

CITY FIREMEN EXTINGUISH FIRE

Fire, which is believed to have started from a gas stove in the basement of the Greenwood M. E. church about 8 o'clock Sunday morning threatened destruction of the church and caused a loss of around $350. The church is located along the Ellwood City road, near Castlewood.

Neighbors residing in the immediate vicinity of the church, held the blaze in check until Fire Chief A. P. McMillan and the B. Truck company from New Castle arrived and extinguished the blaze. The bucket brigade did a splendid piece of work.

Chief McMillan stated that the fire was discovered by the janitor before it had gained much headway, and he spread the alarm. The floor was burned through around the pulpit and the fire spread to the outside wall but did not get up to the roof.

Didn't Confess Says Secretary To Simone Simon

"Lot More To This Than Has Been Told", Declares Sandra Martin

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, April 25.—"Plenty of fireworks before this thing is over" were promised today by Sandra Martin, accused of the theft of more than $16,000 from Simone Simon, her former employer.

"There is a lot more to this than has been told so far, and it will all be told at the proper time," the erstwhile $40-a-week secretary of the petite French star, declared in the county jail.

The nature of the "fireworks" she expects to set off was not disclosed by the plump, attractive brunette, Miss Martin said, however, that she plans to have the attorney aiding her in the theft charges file a civil suit.

The former secretary struck at District Attorney Byron Fitts' announcement that she confessed logging a power of attorney and making heavy withdrawals from Miss Simon's bank account while the actress was in Europe last summer.

"How could I confess?" demanded the accused woman. "I've done nothing to confess. I had sufficient authority and reason for everything I did while I was employed by Simone."

"She knows she gave me that power of attorney and there was no trickery on my part."

Plan For France's Rehabilitation

Economic Plans Being Prepared

Premier And His Ministerial Council Are In Conference Today

EMERGENCY DECREES EXPECTED MAY 1

PARIS, April 25.—Plans for the economic rehabilitation of strike-torn, financially-distressed France were drawn up today at a meeting of Premier Edouard Daladier's ministerial council. After much debate, approval was given to the project by the "inner cabinet" of seven. Interior Minister Albert Sarraute announced the Daladier plan would be presented to the full cabinet today afternoon. Emergency decrees to protect French industry and finances are now, however, expected before May 1, and May Day may bring further outbreaks of labor unrest.

From all sides there has been wonder in the last few days as to why Daladier, after fighting for the return to rule France's economy by decree, has taken no steps toward taking advantage of his authority.

of an eye with eye-winkers. He found the egg Saturday in the chicken-coop at their place, he stated.

Daylight time schedules were inaugurated in the metropolitan and other centers yesterday. New Castle remains on eastern standard time.

Wheat appears to be unusually high in the Lawrence county fields for this period of the year.

In a yard in the rear of a home on Waldo street, on Saturday, we saw a four-year-old Japanese cherry tree in full bloom. It is about a week early blooming this year, and in its second year.

Folks were very industrious on Saturday in "Brown's Addition, South Side, working in their gardens. Came upon one man who had been up since six o'clock, and was taking a short rest at noon, waiting for the bone meal for the garden to arrive.

On Lyndal street, we heard much bleating going on, and were told someone had a goat kid, and it probably "had the toothache."

Many of the front yards of the homes on Waldo, Lyndal and Electric street are surrounded by hedges, some of which are kept artistically trimmed.

More auto are being noted in the city, carrying the name of the home town. Why not more New Castle plates on New Castle owned cars? Fifteen or twenty thousand New Castle plates on autos would do a lot of advertising for the city, in other localities.

Work is in progress on paving of Home street, from Mill to Pollock avenue, at the Home street school, Pa. News observes.

NAZI GOVERNMENT AWAITS MOVE BY PRESIDENT BENES

months are over, according to German expectations. Benes will give the Sudetens a clear answer to the following:

1.—To what extent is the Czechoslovakian government ready to meet the Sudeten demands?

2.—By what methods are the ambitions to the 3,500,000 Germans in Czechoslovakia to be realized?

Thus the Nazi government takes the attitude that the next move is up to Benes and the odds of reaching a satisfactory settlement placed upon his shoulders.

Naturally, President Benes is expected to prolong diplomatic maneuvers as much as possible although a decision may be hastened by clear indications from Berlin that Germany's patience cannot be expected to extend beyond the end of the year.

See Political Struggle

Some informed quarters believe a domestic political struggle may develop between Czech factions over the issue which eventually could force Benes to make large concessions to the Sudetens or else resign.

In general, the Nazi attitude may be summed up thus:

"The next step is up to Benes. An opportunity has been given him once and for all to achieve a peaceful solution of an acute European sore spot. An early settlement is needed and anticipated."

Reichsminister Adolf Hitler is watching developments across the border closely. In a lengthy conference with his foreign minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop on Saturday the entire central European problem was discussed in detail and all indications are that Germany views the outlook as promising.

Fresh Alarm

Carlsbad, Czechoslovakia, April 25.—Europe quivered with fresh alarm today when the Czechoslovakian government put the stamp "unacceptable" on the demands of the Sudeten German party for complete self-rule.

There was every indication, however, that a compromise would be reached in this problem so troubling to international relationships.

The sharp and comprehensive requirements of Konrad Henlein, leader of the Czech-German Nazis were his maximum demands, it was indicated, and he is ready to accept less.

The government of President Edouard Benes is prepared to meet the Nazis half way, rather than suffer the fate of Austria.

Backed by the power and influence of expanding Germany, Henlein accused the Czech government of "20 years of oppression," and said the present state of affairs resembled "war in the midst of peace."

Henlein also cried out against the French-Soviet defensive alliance, to which Czechoslovakia is also a party.

Speaking as the representative of 3,500,000 Germans at a Sudeten party congress here, Henlein said he "might have asked for more," but by restricting their demands, the Sudetens were "contributing to European peace."

He hinted that the time has come for the Czech government to choose between the alternative of friendly relations with the German Reich or risk consequences.

Lend and Spend Program.

The $4,512,000,000 lend and spend program of the administration is expected to reach the house floor next week and touch off the most bitter partisan battle of the entire session.

The Tennessee Valley authority flared up again as the house was called upon to vote again on a Senate proposal to appropriate $2,600,000 to begin work on the Gibraltar dam.

Although the house once rejected the appropriation by a narrow margin, the senate and the administration hoped to break the resistance of anti-TVA foes and obtain the funds for the TVA expansion plan.

According to the troubles which beset administration leaders was a fight between the senate and house over passage with patronage looking on the background.

The house also was to vote again on the McKellar amendment to the independent offices bill requiring Senate confirmation for attorneys and experts receiving more than $5,000 a year in the social security board, federal trade commission and other agencies granted huge funds.

House leaders fought the demand on the ground that the senate was seeking to seize power and obstruct patronage lever on the choice jobs.

Three important British technicians returned to London Wednesday after a fortnight's secret conferences with French military, naval and aerial authorities, it was learned. Their report will be considered at the meetings between Daladier and Premier Neville Chamberlain.

France holds, and so the British will be reassured, that France has the strongest army in Europe and France is prepared for any eventuality.

Daladier will submit the French general staff's opinion that there is no danger of an immediate war in Europe, unless some exceptional accident causes an explosion.

Germany is too far from preparedness to cause any conflict in the near future, according to French military opinion.

FAITH PENNA. AS A BUSINESS MAN

Pennsylvania has driven quite a number of business concerns to other states with their high taxes, but when it comes to spending this money it is a different matter.

Example: In the state of New York the Old Age Assistance Board allows the funeral director $100 for burial of anyone receiving assistance from this board, and also allows the funeral director to sell a funeral up to $250 if some one of the deceased's friends are willing to give the party a better burial. The state of Ohio allows $100 and gives the funeral director permission to sell a funeral up to $200, if someone else sees fit to give the deceased a better burial. Good old Pennsylvania allows the funeral director $50 for the funeral and up to $25 for a grave if it should cost that much, and compels the funeral director to make out that he didn't receive a penny from any other source, or they will not give him this $50.

This compels many a funeral director, who has met with reverses and who not from his own choice, but because he has been compelled to receive assistance from the Old Age Assistance Board, to have a funeral cheaper than a proper, and also tells the man or woman who has a few dollars and wants to use it for charity that they cannot do so. Of course, we know dear people can't vote.

Advice: If you happen to be getting help from the Old Age Assistance Board, you had better move to Ohio or New York state, or be buried like a pauper.

The Parent
Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

YOUTHS DO TOO MUCH

FACTS ARE not available, but I venture the guess that the toll of mental illness among high school and college students is rapidly on the increase, and that the choicest and most promising ones are among the first to fall. I have no doubt that of every hundred youths who in the last year have suffered a "nervous breakdown" or have mentally collapsed, the majority are in the upper quarter of the class in school grades or out-of-class activities, or both—perhaps even in the upper tenth.

Certainly more often than not the victim is the very willing, very conscientious student, and with parents who egg him or her on to catastrophe.

Not many youths today are satisfied merely with high grades at school. They also must participate in many outside things to win approval. Though the achievements out of class may be worth more to these children than their marked success at books, both together, at the rate they go, often prove too much and they are wrecked, sometimes beyond repair.

Many of these promising over-achievers will say, "I have not a minute in the day I can call my own." And often all to little of the night.

An Instance

At a recent public forum I lead, a mother handed me this note:

"Boy 17. Senior in High School. Honor student. Has paper route. Takes care of furnace, dogs, etc., for neighbors. Boy Scout. Taking life saving and bicycle trips for Eagle badge. Assistant scoutmaster for Scout troop. Takes Scout leader's training course. Gets in hikes, etc., with troop. Sings in church choir. At least one practice a week. Belongs to a Sunday school class, active in their program, with basketball, monthly parties, etc. Takes piano lessons once a week. Belongs to High School Astronomy club—all excellent. But what about the boy?"

And will teachers as well as parents egg on these choice youths toward the human scrap heap?

Why should not the school and college find ways to protect these children, even inducing some of them to spend five or six years to cover all the four things they are now doing in four? What's the sense of hurrying through school anyway?

Perhaps the high school principal, Scout leaders, Camp Fire leaders, Y leaders, ministers and so on, of each neighborhood, should get together to try to find ways of reducing the present contest over winning these choice youths to their respective programs, and of attracting the many others who are not responding.

Away, children are not made for activities, but activities for children.

This is God's hospitality. And whose rests beneath a tree. Hath cause to thank Him gratefully.

After all there isn't much difference between a drunken driver and one that goes to sleep. A drink can produce sleep.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:48; sun rises tomorrow 5:07.

Judging from what we read in the newspapers a lot of WPA checks are being stolen. A few days ago in Pittsburgh, one bird stole seven checks from seven different men.

After he was sentenced to the workhouse and seven victims pleaded for him to get out—and cut he got. That's brotherly love for you.

A new one is being pulled in this country. Pickets are stopping men going to work because they have not paid their union dues. It sure has cost the workers who have paid their dues and their employers a lot of money. Sound the alarm.

An alleged authority says a person can think better with his feet propped up on a desk. If that is true some birds we know can think pretty good. It's hard on a desk, however.

One thing that was handed down by the forefathers of this country was the guarantee for individual liberty. Where is that now? Our troubles must be coming from those whose forefathers are carrying on wars in foreign countries.

English as Spoke

A lecturer gave a very learned and interesting address before a woman's club on "The Decadence of Pure English." At the close of the talk a much-over-dressed woman came up to him and said:

"I did enjoy your talk ever and ever so much, and I agree with you that the English language is decidedly something awful. Hardly to me, but I am sure it is to you."

DEAR MISS MARKEL—Has not the custom of making "party calls" died out?

Answer—To a certain extent this custom has died out in these days of informality, but there are still many who consider it obligatory either to make such calls in person or to leave cards without asking to be received.

If the friends who have entertained you are punctilious about such matters, I should strongly advise you to follow this custom. In any event, your hosts will surely appreciate such a courteous acknowledgment of their hospitality.

Many moderns, instead of paying "party visits," now reciprocate with a week or two with an invitation to a party or dinner given by themselves.

However, a card must always be left at the home of the hostess who has entertained you for the first time or as that of a new acquaintance at whose house you have dined for the first time.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing a self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

HE KNEW IT WAS GOOD

A man showing all the signs of poverty stepped into a local meat market and grocery store one day last week and after inquiring about prices, bought ten cents worth of bacon, ten cents worth of coffee, twenty cents worth of flour, a nickel's worth of lard and a nickel's worth of sugar. The attendant wrapped up the purchases and stood patiently waiting. Then the man lingering and hesitating, drew out a thin piece of silver from his pocket and tendered it. The clerk looked at the silver and said: "Mister, I am afraid I can't take this. It looks like it might have once been a half dollar, but the lettering and the milling have been worn off and it might not be good." To which the man replied: "The hell—it ain't a good half dollar! I have carried it for forty-five years. I carried it all through the Cleveland panic and the Roosevelt panic and no man can carry fifty cents through this depression."

Why is the first payment on an installment purchase easier than the rest of them?

Willie: "Maw, that dentist you sent me to that was advertised as painless wasn't?"

Mother: "He wasn't?"

Willie: "No, I bit his finger and he yelled just like any other dentist."

A Pittsburgh man claims he only loaned his wife her wedding ring 25 years ago and pawned it to buy whisky while she was recovering from an operation. The streamlined crook got only 30 days in the jug for his dirty work.

Spending Government spending on actual improvements is very slow. Communities do not have the credit to match government funds, even as far as 10 per cent.

Inflation? Deteriorating gold, creating vast new credit resources at the disposal of banks and business (and, unfortunately, speculators) may create an inflation bubble that cannot be controlled.

Housecleaning Information!

You will never know how bright and beautiful your home can be until you have had your curtains, drapes and rugs thoroughly cleaned. Brightness and cheerfulness is the keynote of the modern home. Your rugs and hangings play a vital part in this decorative scheme. How important it is that your rugs and hangings be kept clean and bright. Rugs last longer if they are cleaned every year. Otherwise the constant tramping of thousands of shoes grind the dirt deep into the rug, weakening the fibers and obscuring the colors. And more so your curtains, drapes and all other hangings exposed to different atmospheric conditions such as steam, gas and furnace heat, soil, which becomes embedded into the finest fibre, is very destructive. Soon materials become brittle and deteriorated, losing their lustre and brightness.

The Nu-Life Texturizing Process is used on all garments and hangings cleaned in our plant. It is approved by our National Institute at Washington, D. C., and is considered the biggest achievement in Dry Cleaning Service. This method is especially adapted for curtains, draperies and other hangings because it is a soil and stain resistant as well as an atmospheric moisture repellent.

Nu-Life is carefully applied and penetrated into the finest fibre of all makes of materials, assuring longer life to your hangings as well as to the finest and most delicate garments. The Nu-Life service is exclusive at Smith's without extra charge.

Oriental, Persian and Domestic rugs are now cleaned by the new "Nu-Life" system. Special attachments make it possible for us to dry clean furniture in your home with amazing results.

Our Super-Cleaning and Nu-Life Texturizing Service has proved worthy of its name.

Forty-Five Miners Lost In Explosion

Mine May Resume Within Next Two Weeks It Is Reported

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O., April 25.—The Keen Mountain Coal mine near Grundy, Va., where an explosion killed 45 miners, probably will be reopened "within 10 days or two weeks" but no definite plans will be made until U. S. Mine inspectors have made a report. R. D. Stockdale, president of the Red Jacket Coal Co., said today.

Stockdale, who with other officers of the operating company, visited the scene of the disaster, declared that only about 40 per cent of the mine was damaged.

"It will be difficult to compute the loss in dollars and cents," he said, "and right now we are too grieved by the loss of the men to do much thinking about any financial damage."

The Red Jacket company and the Ritter Lumber Co., both of Columbus, operate the Keen Mountain mine.

Business Policies Of Administration Sharply Criticized

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 25. Sharp criticism of administration policies toward business, particularly members of the Senate, and a recommendation to the committee today recommended a broad economic recovery program, and called for immediate congressional action.

In a minority report following the recommendations of a majority of the committee, Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Davis of Pennsylvania, included the following suggestions to end the business recession:

1. Stabilization of administration policy.
2. Congressional control of currency.
3. Repeal of the corporation undistributed profits tax and modification of the capital gains tax.
4. Revision of the tariff laws.
5. Elimination of tax-exempt securities.

In addition, the report called for a perpetual unemployment census, local control of chief appropriations and elimination of "waste" and "favoritism" in relief distribution.

Treat Business Men Fairly.
Referring to administration policies, the minority report said: "First, business men fairly, as they are the best hope for new jobs. The duty of encouraging that which is good in business is just as binding on government as the duty of punishing that which is bad. Give business staple conditions and jobs will be created over night. Congress should stop wasting its time over such schemes as the Supreme Court and reorganization bills."

Brief Strike On W. P. A. Project

Discharge Of General Foreman Causes Sit-Down—Trouble Temporarily Adjusted

When general foreman Frank Ross was discharged from the Works Progress Administration today, approximately 85 employees engaged on a project at the state highway garage on the Wilmington road staged a brief sit down strike. The strike was called off temporarily when it was announced that Ross had been taken over by the state highway department as an inspector. The strikers agreed to work today but may battle again when the new foreman is appointed, it was stated.

The reason given for Ross' dismissal was that he is eligible for unemployment compensation. His statement is that when he applied for the compensation he was told that he was not eligible due to the fact that he had not worked enough in the previous year to qualify.

When word of his dismissal reached the state highway garage, a grievance committee was appointed and went in to see the WPA heads in the WPA building on South Mill street. After a conference there they went back to the highway building and it is said reported to their fellow strikers that the reasons for the dismissal were political.

The highway department is a dual organization. There is the regular state highway department personnel under the direction of John B. Shaw as superintendent. This is a strictly state government activity.

There is also a WPA group in the highway under the direction of C. Harvey Mithell. The highway department sponsors the projects and the work is done by WPA employees. This is a Federal group.

INSURGENT TROOPS MOVE THROUGH DRENCHING RAIN

tically unchanged. Morale of the government troops is good, according to Barcelona.

International Relations Endangered.
For the second time in less than a week, international relations were endangered when eight insurgent bombing planes, made in Germany, bombed the French-Spanish border town of Puigderda.

Several civilians were killed.

Across the border in France troops are lined up to prevent any encroachments on French territory as the insurgent army presses up the Segre river towards the international railroad at Puigderda.

Back of the fighting lines a clean-up of the so-called "fifth column" of insurgent sympathizers is gaining momentum. Eleven persons today were sentenced to death for high treason in Barcelona; five faced death in Valencia and three in Madrid for the same alleged crime.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Says Congress Senses Change

Washington Writer Asserts Congressmen Keep Ears Close To Ground

KNOW WHEN TO CHANGE POLICY

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg. BY CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist WASHINGTON, April 25.—A faithful reader of this column expresses a doubt that Washington writers sense the countrywide reaction to New Deal policies, probably because, as he remarks, they evidently have not traveled much recently.

It is true, most of them have not. Still, they all are in close touch with congressmen from all parts of the country. Maybe they have, consequently, a better idea of sentiment in ALL PARTS of the country than any observer in one particular area.

KEEP IN TOUCH WITH HOME

Now there can be no question that President Roosevelt has considerable congressional influence since his last re-election. Votes in both the senate and the house of representatives prove it conclusively. Here and there a bolting Democratic legislator presumably has misinterpreted the sympathies of his home folk and will be retired at coming primaries or in November. But certainly not ALL the Democratic lawmakers are thus mislead. On an average they must assess home sentiment with a fair degree of accuracy.

I know of no Washington writer who contends that the administration will suffer a clean-cut defeat in this year's campaign. But they do not believe that the New Deal will lose through the national election of Republican or Democratic anti-New Deal candidates.

It is not a matter of Washington reporters' preference, but of cold-blooded political judgment. Pro-New Deal reports occur in it.

F. D. R.'S OBJECTIVES

My criticism is that Roosevelt's objectives are the objectives for which millions yearn.

Nevertheless, he adds, "goodness knows, his F. D. R.'s economic or social program hardly could be worse for the ultimate welfare of the people."

My correspondent is, indeed, afraid of an "American form of fascism," brought about through the discrimination of the New Deal, all liberal measures and the triumph of reaction.

He queries: "Who will do it? Why, the O'Connors, the Pat Harrisons, the Johnstons, the Malloys, and such former liberals as Senators Johnson and Wheeler?"

STEWART'S APPRAISAL

Well, I class Representative John O'Connor as, maybe, a reactionary. Senator Harrison possibly as a conservative. General Hugh Johnson formerly was a New Dealer. Raymond Moley was considered a radical.

I never would recognize Senators Hiram W. Johnson and Burton K. Wheeler as even remotely reactionary. Johnson at least is an advanced radical. I have heard Wheeler say that he wished well to Soviet Russia. Former liberals? I agree on call such a statement as Senator William H. King when I wanted an expression of opinion from a really liberal, public man, and it was recognized by everyone that he WAS a liberal. Today he is denounced as a reactionary, because he is an anti-New Dealer.

OBJECT TO METHODS

As my critic says: "Roosevelt's economic or fiscal program hardly could be worse for the ultimate welfare of the people. But his objectives, if guided by the hard road, are objectives for which the millions yearn."

Not a few of our so-called reactionaries appear to me to fight the New Deal not because of its objectives, but because of its plans of arriving at them.

AS STEWART SEES IT

My correspondent voices some fear of fascism, due to reaction.

Heck! Mussolini was a radical to begin with.

So was Hitler. The Spanish revolution, to be sure, is reactionary, but financed by supposedly progressive Mussolini and Hitlerism.

The thing is: Our supposed reactionaries are not real reactionaries but balk at what supposedly are "dam-foolish" remedial details.

NERVOUS?

Do you feel so nervous you want to scream? Are you cross and irritable? Do you feel that your nerves are on edge, try LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND. It often helps Nature calm quivering nerves. For three generations one woman has told another how to go "calmer" through with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature force up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure. Why not try LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND?

On Court House Hill

No decision has been reached yet by the county commissioners upon whether or not they will grant the request of city council for $10,000 in order to finish the airport at Parkstown Corners. The question has arisen as to whether this would really finish the airport and if it does who maintains it. Said Commissioner A. R. Turner, "It is claimed that this amount of money will finish the airport and grade it as Class A. It is my understanding that before a field is rated with an 'A' it must have proper hangar facilities and be properly lighted for night landings. It is not clear to us whether this money does these things."

The port is in shape to be used at least in part, at the present time. Planes are landing and taking off but there is some work needed before the port is turned over for permanent use.

Tax cards are being filled out now by a corps of clerks in the county treasurer's office. This year's tax will be smaller by 1 1/2 mills than it was last year.

Work on the flood control project in the Neshannock river near the old paper mill is about ready for a start. The project will keep a lot of men busy for several months, rip rapping the banks, straightening the channel and taking precautions against flood waters damaging the bridge supports. In many respects this project will be similar to the one recently completed in the Shenango river near the Cherry street bridge.

Bids are coming in slowly for the painting of the sheriff's office and the office of the prothonotary and clerk of courts. The last two painting bids have been so low that a number of painters figure it is a waste of time attempting to compete.

A sample of the ballots to be used on May 17 has been received by the county commissioners from the printers. The ballot is a small one and should require little time to count after the polls are closed. Under the new election code it is required that election boards return their count to the office of the permanent registration commission immediately after the count is completed and the sheets made out.

It means an all night job for the chief clerk, Thomas C. Edmunds, but it does save a lot of time getting the county totals. For the city election boards this means but little inconvenience. For those out in the back areas of the rural sections it is quite a trip. However they get mileage in addition to their compensation as officers.

DEFENDS OWLS

Editor New Castle News: On the front page of the News April 25 in a Grove City item I note the statement: "Local sportsmen urge the elimination of owls which prey on smaller wild life." Such a statement is misleading and the average person reading it concludes that owls as a class are obnoxious and should be destroyed. This is far from the truth. The good offices of owls have been so long known to those who have actually investigated the facts that it is a matter of wonder that it should be necessary to reiterate the findings.

Sixteen distinct species of owls inhabit North America. Of these only one species is of doubtful value—the Great Horned Owl mentioned in the article. This owl is rather rare in Lawrence County being a more northern species visiting us mainly in the winter. I doubt if more than half a dozen of these birds could be found in our county in a whole winter. I heard of one being captured near Plainville about a month ago. The Department of Agriculture says of this bird, "If we could pass over the more thickly settled district and see the bird only as it appears in the great West, we would give it a secure place among beneficial species, for it is an important ally of the ranchman in fighting the hordes of ground squirrels, gophers, prairie dogs, rabbits and other rodents which infest his fields."

Our more common owls are the screech owl, barn owl, and long eared owl. These are highly beneficial to the farmer directly and indirectly. Quoting from Farmers Bulletin No. 497 on the food of the Long-eared Owl: "From one hundred and fifty pellets collected by Dr. Fisher under the roost of a bird of this species he found remains of 95 meadow mice, 19 pine mice, 15 house mice, five white-footed mice, three Cooper's mice, 26 shrews, 11 sparrows, one bluebird and one warbler. Our house cat destroys more birds in a week than that."

I know a farmer who had a Barn Owl stay in his barn all winter and he prized it more highly than his cats as a mouse and rat catcher.

The screech Owls feed extensively on insects. As many as 50 grasshoppers have been found in one stomach.

The true sportsman, realizing the great benefit of owls to the farmer, does not shoot them even though one occasionally does catch a game bird. The owls have no more ability to discriminate between pest and game or song birds than our family pets the cats and dogs; and our pets are the more destructive of the two.

Sincerely,
JOHN ROBINSON

Provide Funds For Censervation Loans To Farmers

Farmers Who Do Not Have Means To Participate Can Secure Loans

The Agricultural Conservation Program announced today that farmers who are unable to participate in the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program by reason of lack of funds with which to purchase necessary materials to carry out farm practices now have available a service to which they may make a request for such funds.

Through cooperation with the Farm Security Administration this service has been made available to farmers participating in the program who are unable to secure funds through regular financing channels. The main qualification to obtain these loans is to establish their proper use in connection with the program. Sums up to $200 are available, the amounts depending on the cash outlay for necessary materials to participate in the program, and the total payments which may be earned.

Necessary forms and detailed instructions for making such loans through the Farm Security Administration are now available in County Agricultural Conservation offices, where farmers interested in securing these loans may obtain such forms and instructions.

ROADSIDE BEAUTY MARRED BY FIRES

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Secretary of Highways Roy E. Brownmillers today appealed to property owners and motorists to cooperate in preventing fire damage to roadside property owners along highways.

Each spring fires started by property owners along highways spread onto the right-of-way and cause serious damage, particularly in the heavily wooded areas. Marchers and campfires tossed from passing cars occasionally start these fires.

Democratic Leaders Want Federal Action In Primary Charges

New Declaration Made By Wilson

Says He'll Ask Ickes To Hold Up Contracts Held By McCloskey

KELLY ASKS PROBE OF W. P. A. COERCION

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Writer

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Pennsylvania Democratic leaders, regulars and insurgents, loudly called upon Washington for official action today to back up their respective primary campaign charges.

Mayor S. Davis Wilson, of Philadelphia, Guiffey-CIO candidate for U. S. senator, announced in Johnstown he would ask PWA Administrator Ickes to hold up all general state authority projects on which Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., holds contracts.

Political Rebuttal
His declaration came as a political rebuttal to organization demands on President Roosevelt for a G-man probe into U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guiffey's alleged connections with WPA. McCloskey is supporting the organization candidates; Guiffey is backing Wilson and others on the Kennedy-for-governor ticket.

The mayor's newest step was based on his original charge that Gov. George H. Earle, his senatorial opponent, favored McCloskey with authority contracts because of personal loans the governor later admitted he received from the Philadelphia contractor.

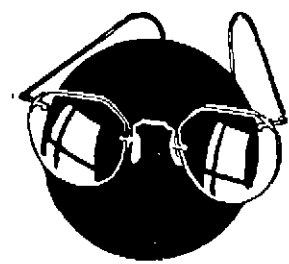

Today, too, the Philadelphia Record, which backed Earle in 1934 for the governorship and throughout most of his administration, advised the governor editorially to "be yourself" and "demand that Matt McCloskey surrender his state contracts, to be readjusted to other bidders."

Millions Are Fighting That Tired Feeling

Some people are always tired, no matter how much sleep they get. Often they are just suffering from constipation. For early fatigue, mental dullness, sleeplessness, sour stomach and its resultant bad breath, mental depression, the aggravation of most skin blemishes, can all be caused by it.

So keep regular. And if you need to assist Nature, use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This gentle laxative can help bring relief. Extremely important, too, is the mild stimulation it gives the flow of bile from the liver, without the discomfort of drastic, irritating drugs. This is why millions are sold yearly. New Castle And Sharon Have Lowest Electric Rates In Cities Of State

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 25.—Residential consumers of electricity pay lower rates in New Castle and Sharon than any other Pennsylvania city of 25,000 or more population, the Federal Power Commission reported today.

The commission based its reports on a study of typical bills as of January 1, 1937. The bills represented costs of 25 kilowatt hours, 100 kilowatt hours, and 250 kilowatt hours. The study covered only electricity used for home lighting, cooking, etc., and did not embrace commercial and industrial consumers.

The commission found New Castle and Sharon typical bills to be identical. These were reported as follows: 25 kilowatt hours, $1.20; 100 kilowatt hours, $3.33; 250 kilowatt hours, $7.08. No other city in the 25,000 or more population category had typical costs so low as those for New Castle and Sharon.

Much Higher Than New Castle. The commission found the highest typical bills in this population class in the following cities: 25 kilowatt hours, Easton, $2.12, or 76.7 per cent greater than the New Castle cost; 100 kilowatt hours, Altoona, $5.84, or 52.5 per cent higher than the New Castle figure; 250 kilowatt hours, Nanticoke, $9.76, or 37.9 per cent greater than the New Castle charge.

Of cities from 10,000 to 25,000 population, Ellwood City and Farrell had the lowest typical bill for 25 kilowatt hours, $1.20. Fourteen cities in this group, however, had lower costs for 100 kilowatt hours and 250 kilowatt hours than did Ellwood. Ellwood consumers were reported as paying an average of $3.80 for 100 kilowatt hours and $6.80 for 250 kilowatt hours.

served by the hostesses, Mrs. Gus Miller, Jr., Mrs. Thomas Miller and Mrs. Morgan Patterson.

An interesting business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. W. B. McGeorge. A number of women were remembered at this time with gifts from their "pals."

Miss Catherine Davis, Beaver County Home Economics Worker was the guest speaker, giving an interesting talk on the re-arrangement of the farm home kitchen. Slides were used to illustrate her address.

The next meeting will be May 17. Hostesses will be Miss Grace McHattie, Mrs. Martha Leslie and Mrs. Norma McCune. A donation will be received for the Beaver County Children's Home.

GRANGE PROGRAM
Big Beaver Grange program for Tuesday evening, April 26, is as follows:

Subject—"Legislation and Civics." Roll call—Name, state or county official and give his duties of office. Song—selected from the Patron. Recitations by juvenile members. Talk—"Are We Becoming A More or Less Law Abiding Nation?" W. H. McCullough.

S. A. Duncan, Ira Duncan, Arthur Duncan, Mrs. Elda McMillen and Mrs. J. C. Russell motored to Cadiz, O., on Thursday to attend the funeral services for their cousin, Jay Gollady.

Mr. and Mrs. Virdyn Caldwell, Jr., and children, Virdyn III and Barbara, of New Castle, were Saturday callers at the J. W. Bronson home in Little Beaver township. On Easter Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. John Adams and Mrs. Elizabeth Gibson, of Homestead, visited at the Bronson home.

P. J. Barber, the principal speaker, was next introduced, who spoke on the General Welfare Act, H. R. 4199, which is the embodiment of the Townsend plan. He said that 141 congressmen had already pledged to help bring the General Welfare Act out to the floor for discussion.

Only persons over 60 years of age who have been citizens for five years are eligible to receive the annuity, which reaches a maximum of $200 per month, to be spent within 30 days following, and American goods purchased. Also said that 80 poor-houses with 14,000 inmates, cost 40 millions to maintain, at a cost of over $2800 a person, and that the Townsend plan would take care of them better and for less money.

Perry Garrett of Beaver Falls said that we would have either initiation or the Townsend plan, and that he was satisfied that the Townsend plan was the only proposition that would get us out of our predicament.

High Geared BLUE SUNOCO MOTOR FUEL

WINS FIRST HONORS OVER ALL GASOLINES IN SURVEY AMONG NEW CAR OWNERS IN 140 EASTERN CITIES

24,744 motorists who recently bought new cars were asked for their gasoline preference

Here's a story of motor fuel superiority... told, not by its manufacturer, but by the most critical of its users—owners of new cars with high compression engines. These experienced drivers ranked Blue Sunoco first by 57.5% more votes than the next highest on the list... gave it 95% as many votes as the next two gasolines put together. Certainly facts like these should convince you that High Geared Blue Sunoco is the motor fuel for your car... because—since new cars require a better gasoline to perform satisfactorily, such a gasoline will obviously perform with at least equal satisfaction in older cars.

This survey was conducted by an independent organization in New York, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia, Michigan and Ohio. The replies received were submitted to Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery, certified public accountants, who prepared the above tabulation therefrom.

After the fine entertainment, separate business meetings were held, with plans being made for class activities. Charles Pflug was re-elected teacher of the Brotherhood class.

Later in the evening the members gathered in the basement, where a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Mabel McKinney, Mrs. J. R. Clarke, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith and Mrs. Clem Hays.

Wampum Ex-Hi Stars Reunion Most Successful

Ralph H. Gardner, New Castle, Is The Principal Speaker

ELLWOOD CITY, April 25.—The eighth annual reunion and banquet held by the Wampum Ex-Hi Basketball Association at Zellenopolis, on Saturday evening was by far the most successful of the events held to date.

A better attendance of 27 members and guests were on hand for the affair, and enjoyed a delicious roast chicken dinner, which was served in the first floor dining room. A large welcoming sign and collection of team and individual photographs of the Stars, the Castle Five and old Shelby Tube five of which Adam Dambach was a member were attractively placed about the room.

Of special interest to the pre-dinner gathering was the arrival of Adam J. "Dumpty" Dambach and Russell L. "Huey" Galbreath, who had made the trip together from Milan, O. Bill Galbreath and Earl Allen of Wampum, who have been unable to attend for several years were also given an enthusiastic welcome.

With the repast disposed of, President Chet Smith in an able introductory speech, to an extent biographical in nature, introduced Harold W. Cohen, of the Post-Gazette "Drama Desk" as the toastmaster for the evening. The organizer of the Stars was in fine fettle and handled the assignment in a superb manner. A number of humorous happenings incident to his early athletic and newspaper career in Wampum, related expertly in the typical Cohenian manner, kept the gathering in a constant uproar. The following members of the Ex-Hi's were called on and responded with short talks: Butler Hennon, Wampum High athletic coach, George Patterson, J. Elmer "Frosty" Galbreath, Adam Dambach and Thomas Newman.

The next speaker was Frank Fitzgerald, well known former local athlete, who appeared in opposing lines against Wampum floormen on several occasions. Fitzgerald, a fluent talker, narrated several interesting incidents from his experiences on the gridiron, diamond and basketball court. His talk was well received and deserving of a return engagement at the speakers table at a future date.

When Cohen presented Ralph H. Gardner, New Castle High faculty member and principal speaker of the evening, the "Old Man" was dealing with a familiar subject as he attended New Castle high and played on the Senior Class team, then coached by the man whose name is synonymous with athletics at the county seat institution. It was a fine and sincere tribute to a worthy sports figure. It appeared at first that Cohen's eloquence had stymied Gardner, but he quickly recovered his customary composure and imparted a message of real value to his hearers.

By no means limiting himself to the realm of athletics, Ralph drew from his rich background of experience in handling boys and young men administrative work, and other activities in which he has engaged, for episodes that taught him valuable lessons in the conduct of every day affairs. A keen analyst in matters pertaining to the football field, basketball court, and the psychology of dealing with young men, Gardner gave several fundamental rules essential for the effective playing of these sports. These points were particularly interesting to those present who are engaged in coaching and officiating. He spoke with affection of the old Castle Five, a team he tutored merely as an avocation. Two players from that club, John Kraft and the late National Bank in New York City, and the late Charles "Horse" Gilliam were unable to make the varsity squad at New Castle high. Yet several years after high school they were regulars on a powerful Grove City College team, and are numbered among the great in Crimson floor history. Ralph H. Gardner is a mold of boys, a correct and precise talker, and his speech was the high light of an exceptionally fine program arranged by Joe Lattano.

Sixteen members of the organization at a reunion meeting before the dinner elected Paul Stanley, of New Brighton, president for the forthcoming year. He succeeds his fellow townsman Chester Smith, Geo. Patterson was installed into the vice presidency vacated by Stanley and Joe Lattano takes over the secretary-treasurer post held during the past year by Tommy Newman. A special board, composed of three members, to assist the incoming officers in an advisory capacity was proposed and adopted. By a unanimous vote the places went to Adam Dambach, Harold Cohen and Butler Hennon.

In addition to those mentioned the following members attended: William A. Monaco and Joseph Emilio, of Wampum; Merle P. Book and Ray Kellner of this city. In addition to the two speakers other guests were as follows: J. E. Galbreath, Jr. of Struthers, O. Abe Caplan and Ralph Harper of Wampum; Mervin Haines, Bob Robertson, Eddie Boone, L. B. Myers, H. J. Myers and Howard McCloskey, all of this city.

Lutheran Troop Invested Sunday

Rev. A. M. Stump, Of New Castle, Leads Impressive Service

ELLWOOD CITY, April 25.—Investment services for Boy Scout Troop 6 of the Ellwood City district sponsored by the Lutheran Brotherhood were held last evening in the Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. A. M. Stump of New Castle, head of the Lawrence county Scout Council, led the services in the absence of Rev. F. K. Daubenspeck and he chose for the evening's scripture the story of David and Goliath.

John Hough, organization chairman, introduced the troop committee, who were received from District Commissioner Elden Danner the troop charter and certificates of registration. Committeemen are C. H. Holman, chairman; J. D. Hayden, F. H. Daubenspeck, C. S. Waterson, A. S. Dambach and Lee B. Whitmore.

Rotary troop under the leadership of Scoutmasters Kemp, Cole and Kennedy presented the candle ceremony of oath and laws, which was repeated by troop 6 to signify their acceptance of the responsibilities of scouting.

Chairman Holman presented to Scoutmaster J. D. Howells a troop flag donated by the Brotherhood. Scoutmaster Howells and Assistant Scoutmaster C. R. Caldwell then fastened upon each boy his tenderfoot pin, formally receiving him into the ranks of Ellwood City Scouts.

Charles Carbeau, district chairman, paid tribute to the years of work devoted to scouting by John Lindgren, active Lutheran church member, and County Executive Karl F. Green gave a brief inspirational talk.

Rev. Stump along the evening's text likened each scout's oath and laws to the sling of David which, if used well and faithfully could overcome the Goliaths which confront every American boy.

The services ended with the pledge of allegiance to the flag, in which the entire audience took part, and the scout's benediction given by Mr. Kemp.

Baptists To Consider Plans

ELLWOOD CITY, April 25.—Tentative plans for repairing and remodeling the First Baptist church, which was considerably damaged by fire in March, will be submitted to members of the congregation by the special building committee on Wednesday evening following the mid-week prayer service in the First Presbyterian church Sunday school rooms.

At the present time, the cellar under the "old" part of the building is being excavated to conform with the height and width of the basement under the auditorium. A portion of the tile roof has been removed from the part of the building that was the most seriously damaged in preparation for repairing.

A large attendance is desired at the meeting on Wednesday evening in order that all members of the church may be familiar with the plan that is adopted.

Small Girl Injured When Hit By Truck

Percy Johnson, age 7, of 1312 Huron avenue, was injured at 11 a. m. Sunday when struck by a truck operated by Edmund Di Carlo, 1020 Pollock avenue, at East Washington and Adams streets, according to a report made to city police. The girl is being treated by a physician.

According to Di Carlo, he was driving east on East Washington street and Mrs. Lena Nolle, 1025 Hazen street, was driving from the south side curb, where she had parked her car. She steered her car preparatory to making a left turn into Adams street.

Di Carlo said he swerved his car to the left in an effort to avoid striking the automobile and struck the girl instead. She was removed to the office of a nearby physician. Mrs. Nolle also reported that her car was struck by the truck on the left fender.

Electric Incubators Increasing Rapidly On Farms Of County

The adage about the "old order changes" applies to where more forcibly than on the modern poultry farm.

Mother Nature and mother hen have been relieved of much of the task of raising chicks, and nowadays the duty of these two has been limited to merely producing the eggs; electricity does the rest.

Until very recently a jug of hot water, a hard coal or oil stove, or a fuel-fired incubator were seen on most poultry farms; today, electric incubators and electric brooders are the thing.

According to the rural service department of the Pennsylvania Power company, this year has seen more development in electric brooding in this area than ever before. Farmers hesitated in adopting this process, fearing that, in the first place, the cost would be too great and, in the second, that the cold brooder house, in which the hovers operated would result in disease and weakness for the chicks. As a matter of fact, both of these things have proven out quite otherwise. The cost in most cases has become cheaper than other methods, and it has been found that cold-room brooding actually produces healthier chicks due to the fact that the chickens have a tendency to exercise more, thus hardening quicker and feathering out more fully in a short space of time.

Farmers using the newer methods say that mortality rates are surprisingly low and in addition to the low cost, further advantages are offered in the elimination of fire hazard and fumes.

Few people realize the extent of the poultry farming industry in this locality. While much of it is done on a relatively small scale, yet the many small poultry farms, together with a few hatcheries and large-scale enterprises, make poultry farming a large industry in this county.

The adoption of electric methods has come only after the most thorough testing by the farmer. His chicks are his livelihood but, more than that, he has a genuine human interest in these chicks in preserving their existence and developing them into healthy chickens as soon as possible; thus, the general adoption by farmers of electric incubators and electric brooders is evidence of their complete satisfaction.

The normal brooding season in this vicinity is gradually drawing to a close, and thousands upon thousands of chicks have been brought to healthy adolescence with the complete absence of mother hen ever since the egg itself was produced.

Widespread extension of electric lines in rural areas has thus brought profit, as well as convenience, to the farmer, and many a poultry farmer this year is gratified with the aid of electric service in his farming operations.

PIRATES TAKE SIXTH STRAIGHT

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 25.—One week ago when Mr. D. Dean passed from St. Louis to Chicago for the sum of $185,000 and three window dressers, the rest of the National League snuggled knowingly and perhaps a little desirously and allowed that there must have been a catch in it somewhere; that P. K. Whitney, of Chicago, probably had been stuck like a piece of his own gum on the flat of a half-sold.

In other words, not the powdered and powdered product, the recondite kind, slightly used, known for demonstration purposes. After yesterday, though, they'll be sending out a correction on that. It wasn't gum; it must have been slippery elm and nobody was stuck. In fact, Francis Ryer, and the St. Louis Cardinals are still slipping and they won't be able to pull up and right themselves until they forget what Mr. D. Dean did to them yesterday during that 5-0 four-hitter he pitched against them in his first Chicago airing.

Tenacious, this made eighteen straight scoreless innings for the Cardinals against Cub pitching. Fanned Nine Men. Ole-for-in-the-fair was just a blur to the batters all day, as he deflated the Gas House, now considerably de-gassed since the departure of gas bag No. 1 or ole driving Dean himself. He just frivoleed alone, fanning only one, but walking only two.

Twice he blew Mize over with two on, once fanning him and again by making him foul out. Four hits, all told, two of them doubles by Terry Moore, who also made two errors. Not a hit off Ole Dean after the sixth inning.

It was Dean's second straight of the week, and of the season, and not unrepresentative of the Dean who won 30 and 28 respectively in 1934 and 1935, a fact that must come as no great comfort in the rest of the National League, which yesterday spun that "ceptipant" of a new ball to such purpose that its eight teams scored only 11 runs on the afternoon. It was a pitchers' picnic and the best effort was not vouchsafed by Mr. Dean.

It was put on by Hal Schumacher, of the Giants, who beat the Dodgers, 1-0, on a one-hitter that all but made itself a nice, clean, new niche in the hall of records. Rosen singled to open the game; then, after that nobody did anything. Only twenty-nine men faced Schumacher, only one got as far as second base. Only three walked and one of these was snuffed out in a double play.

Rookie Appeals To Judge Landis

Dick Siebert Wants Release From Cardinals, Is Being Given Run-around

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 25.—Dick Siebert, St. Louis Cardinals first baseman, was headed for a berth on the Columbus team of the American Association today.

Only one thing stood between him and relegation to the minor league as ordered by the Cardinals—his appeal that he be made a free agent.

A decision on the plea will be forthcoming from Kenesaw Landis in a few days, the baseball commissioner promised.

Siebert spent half an hour here emphasizing to Judge Landis his contention that the Cardinals are not giving him an even chance to demonstrate his ability, but are railroad him to protect their farm teams.

As a minor league batsman Siebert registered 318 for Columbus in 1937 and 330 for Indianapolis the year before.

Fish Sales by WALT SEIFERT A CENTRAL PRESS FEATURE

Ten pounds of Wisconsin wall-eye

The pike-perch or wall-eye is, in a single night by the latter the mystery fish of fresh water. Scientifically, he is classed as a member of the perch family, but his bones definite resemblance to the pikes.

He is variously known as wall-eyed pike, yellow pike, pickerel, sandpike, jack salmon, dore and Susquehanna salmon, depending on where he is caught and the color and markings he assumes.

Throughout eastern, central and southern U. S. he is held in high esteem as a game fish, and has received much attention from conservationists.

Swift-water trolling and still fishing with minnows are the most common methods of taking this fish. Many anglers are turning to the small spinner and fly rod for "top wall-eye sport," working the water above mid dams or at the head of a spring rapids.

Where the bottom is not too rocky, it is well to cast into the current and let the fast water carry the bait downstream. Trolling with heavy tackle and "chugging minnows" or hand are also popular. We have seen as many as 70 wall-eyes caught.

Spring bass are meager in their appetites. Some days they will eat crabs, other days bluegills, and still others chubs. Open the stomach of your first fish and decide what bait to use.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER

Central Press Sports Editor

CLEVELAND, April 25.—Many paragraphs have been written about that one-hit game pitched by 19-year-old Bob Feller against the St. Louis Browns. One or two who saw the game from the press box blamed Feller himself for the fact that he didn't get a one-hitter, pointing out that it was he, not the Browns, who were the cause of the one-hit game.

Feller had pitched five innings of hitless ball when Mazera came in to bat for the Browns in the sixth. Mazera tried to bunt. It was a warning and Feller caught on. He was watching for a bunt. Sullivan tried to bunt, too, and Feller was on his toes. But what the pitcher was looking for, naturally, was a bunt down the first-base line, a drag bunt, the kind Sullivan knows how to put down perfectly. When Bob pitched he followed through and advanced into the region between first base and the pitcher's box. Sullivan popped a rather long bunt that fell like a pancake back of Feller and to the third-base side of the slab. Feller had to run back for it, and run completely down to third. Sullivan was beat by a half step according to umpire Eddie Rinnel. There was nothing to do but score a hit.

How many balls does a pitcher throw in a one-hit game? Just on a hunch, this writer began keeping track of curves and fast balls and the number of pitches in the first inning. Feller averaged 15 pitches per inning, throwing 135 balls in all. This is a high average for a one-hit game, but far below the number of balls a pitcher usually tosses. The fact that Feller walked six men ran up the total number of pitches. This is how the pitches ran per inning: 10, 22, 13, 20, 14, 14, 13, 16. There are two innings in which the total is sharply higher, the second and fifth. Yet in each inning only three men faced Feller. A number of men were hit, and the count was worked to three and two by four batters.

Feller threw 110 fast balls and 25 curves. Once he shook off catcher Rolfe Hemsley, usually asked for a curve. That was in the fourth inning and Red Kress was the batter. Feller gave Kress a low fast ball and Kress did to center field. Generally Feller's control was good, though he walked six men. The balls were close ones. Often Hemsley disagreed with Plate Umpire Basil. Just an inch or two this way or that. The young man showed a vast improvement over his performance last year, when he often would throw a dozen balls a foot or more wide of the plate. At the last sign of wildness, Hemsley conferred with him in the box.

It was a grand catching job, as well as pitching, and some of the credit should go to Hemsley. Rolfe is Feller's favorite catcher, and it was because of the success the two had on a barnstorming trip last fall that Cleveland went as high as three players to get Rolfe from the Browns. Feller and Hemsley may become one of the great batteries in baseball history. Johnny Alexander and Klinger, Johnson and Ainsmith, Mathewson and Bresnahan, Walsh and Sullivan.

Helping Feller has become Hemsley's ambition, and his attachment for the young pitcher may give Cleveland the catching strength needed for a permanent.

John Henry Lewis, light-heavyweight champion of the world, will defend his title against Emilio Martinez, American, of Spanish-Mexican descent, in a 15-round bout tonight at Minneapolis. Martinez is managed by Jimmie Dunn. The fighter and Dunn flew from Los Angeles to Minneapolis last week. According to an air-mail letter from Dunn he now has Eddie Simms, Emilio Martinez, Charlie (Killer) Coates, Harold Druman, Mickey Davis and several other youngsters, and he reports that he is finding them plenty of fight work.

Mr. Parker, you are right. . . .

how we could make such a grave mistake of comparing King Levinsky and Battling Levinsky is beyond us, perhaps it was that battle just the night before. . . . Mr. Parker is right in stating that we erred, but he also erred. . . .

he has in mind is Battling Levinsky who always owned that handle and not "Bat". . . .

Mr. Levinsky was always called "Battling". . . . we are happy we did make a mistake, however, it proved to us that our work is not in vain, that someone is there in the stands.

Mr. Parker, you are right. . . .

Will Observe Anniversary Of Radio Station

Station WSAJ At Grove City Will Commemorate First Broadcast To New Castle

WAS RECEIVED
BY ROTARY CLUB

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 25.—Paying tribute to Dr. H. W. Harmon, one of the pioneers of radio, station WSAJ, Grove City college, will present a special broadcast at 7:15 p. m. Tuesday, April 26, exactly 18 years after the first radio telephone broadcast, which was sent from Grove City college to New Castle, Pa., on April 26, 1920.

The original radio broadcast, an epochal event in the history of radio, demonstrated Dr. Harmon's transmitter which soon won a prize in a nation-wide contest for a successful telephone transmitter. The broadcast was to the Rotary club of New Castle and was picked up and amplified by Rex Patch, manufacturer of the Pennsylvania Regenerative radio receiver line and well known for his amateur activities.

Dr. Keller, president of Grove City college, and Dr. Harmon himself, who spoke on the original broadcast, and also Mr. Patch will be present for the commemorative broadcast.

Non-Commercial Station.
The station is one of the few stations in the country that has remained non-commercial and whose programs and operations are largely in the hands of the students.

In 1914 the first license was obtained for the amateur station. The call was 8CO. The source of power for the equipment was one kilowatt, Thorndike trans. The station continued to operate under this call until all stations were ordered from the air at the declaration of war in 1917.

In February 1920 the station was allowed to return to the air under the auspices of the signal corps. Tubes, type VT-2, loaned to the station by the bureau of standards, were built into experimental radio telephone transmitter and was first used in March 1920 to contact the amateur stations in northwestern Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio. The procedure used to make these contacts were thus: First, they were connected by the ordinary key and international Morse method. Having thus made the contact certain, a switch was thrown and the radio-telephone thrown into use. The remainder of the contact is carried on in this manner.

In November 1921, the college was given one of the new special licenses for broadcasting stations. The call assigned is that being used at the present time—WSAJ. The assigned frequency was so crowded with interference that the government, in order to relieve the congestion, assigned a definite wave length to each station on the air. This included only the broadcasting station and not the amateur. On the assignment, WSAJ was assigned to the 229 meter wave. About a year later, this was shifted to 224 meters and two years later was re-assigned to the wave length of 229 meters or a frequency of 1310 kilocycles.

In the years of 1927 and 1928 as a master's degree thesis assignment, William Harmon ground quartz crystals and tested them to the assigned frequency of 1310 kilocycles and developed a suitable crystal oscillator circuit which delivered the program carrier wave to the antenna. WSAJ thus became one of the earliest stations to use the new universal quartz crystal oscillator system.

In the fall of 1931 with the completion of the new science building on the upper campus, the station was moved from the old physics building on the lower campus to the new location.

During the Christmas recess in 1935 the present equipment was installed. This new addition was added to conform to the requirements laid down by the Federal Communications Commission. The construction was done by H. H. Johnson and W. A. Wright. Mr. Johnson was the operator at that time. He designed the complete transmitter. Due to the effects of an attack of typhoid fever and overwork, Mr. Johnson died.

The development of the station has by no means ceased. As new and better equipment is developed, it finds its place in the present transmitter and accessories.

Senior Class To Present Comedy

Will Stage "China Boy" As Annual Graduation Season Play

"China Boy" is a gay comedy in three acts. It tells of Mr. and Mrs. Will Parker and their troubles with their children, Selma and Bill. Their nephew, a model of virtue, arrives from China. He lives up to his advance notices, is always trying to be helpful, and takes much of the load off his aunt and uncle. But Bill and Selma wish he were back in China. What happens when Little Mac Robinson takes him in hand will give you one of the most enjoyable evenings you have ever spent in the theater.

Bob Carpenter is to play the part of Mark Willis, the "almost perfect" nephew of the Parkers. This is a part that requires a gentle sort of sophistication, reserve, and subtle humor on the part of the actor. "Carp" is the son of Mrs. Edna M. Carpenter of 140 Boyles avenue, and has been active as a hall monitor, a member of Rifle Squad, and the Wrestling Club. He also had a role in the last school play, "Stage Door".

Little Mac Robinson is a loquacious child of twelve who knows it all and doesn't hesitate to talk about it. When this twelve year old terror takes Mark under her wing things begin to happen. This role is played by Dorothy Lytle, who has taken part in the former productions "The Things That Count" and "Stage Door". "Dot" is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Lytle of 725 Butler avenue. She is a member of Girl Reserves, Rooter's club, and Good Citizenship club and is well liked by her fellow students.
